

Notice of Data Security Incident

On October 11, 2022, KEMET Electronics Corporation identified a data security incident. KEMET immediately took steps to secure its computer systems and a third-party cybersecurity firm was engaged to conduct a thorough investigation. The investigation determined that an unauthorized person gained access to some of KEMET's computer systems on October 11 and October 12, 2022. KEMET further investigated to identify the type of information maintained on the computer systems that were accessed and concluded that they may have contained information for current and former members of KEMET's health plan, including names, Social Security numbers, limited medical information related to an individual's employment at KEMET, information related to an individual's enrollment in that plan, and/or information about claims under that plan.

Beginning on December 9, 2022, KEMET is mailing letters to individuals whose information was involved in the incident and is offering eligible individuals credit monitoring services.

Notified individuals are encouraged to remain vigilant by reviewing their financial account statements, credit reports, and statements from their healthcare providers and health insurance plan for any unauthorized activity. If they see charges or activity that they did not authorize, please contact the relevant financial institution, credit bureau reporting the activity immediately, healthcare provider, or health insurer.

If you believe you may be affected but did not receive a letter, please contact KEMET's toll-free, dedicated call center at 855-504-4484, Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., CST, excluding some major U.S. holidays.

KEMET is enhancing its existing security protocols and technical safeguards and is updating its policies on document retention and sensitive information capture to prevent something like this from happening again.

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.

KEMET's address is 1 East Broward Boulevard, Fort Lauderdale, FL., 33301 and its phone number is (954) 766-2800.
